Today, the first day, will be devoted to showing of the exhibitions, agricultural, livestock, poultry, bousehold and dairy products, fruits and vegetabids, as well as all labor-saving inventions and many other devices.

The second day has been given over to Grange day, when nearly every grange in southern Rhode Island will take part either in exhibits of in the that parade which is a new feature this year. It is understood that the West Kingston, Narragansett Davisville, Hope Valley, Westerly and Exe-ter granges are to compete and much interest is manifested.

There will also be speakers present, among whom will be Joseph Peckham, head of the state gramme.

Thursday is Governor's day and among the speakers expected are Governor Aram J. Porhier, Lieutenant Governor Roswell E. Europard, Congressmen Peter E. Gerry and George F. O'Shaunnessy, William P. Sheffield, President Faunce of Emwn and President Howard Edwards of Rhode Isl-

Friday is Chikmen's day. All children under 15 will be admitted free. The programme will include field sports on the track in the forenoon and speaking, storging and spelling in the main hall The races this year promise to be better than of the years past. The total number of entries this drug store of George M. Ratabone, many is 4-44, or an increase over last West Side from 11 a. m. to 1 p. m. year of 505 exhibits. The increase in very department is noticeable and the apple exhibit has 657 entries against 480 fire previous veet.

In matthe there are all per cent. more entures than in former years, while made to those who neglect this notice. The horses will be doubled. The fruit THOMAS A. ROBINSON. taken as a whole is the best exhibit in years. One entry in applies alone includes 125 photes.

In pears there are 171 emilies, a gain of about 40 over previous year. Vegetables show a slight increase as do the plants and flowers.

Eread, cakes and pies lead by only six entries, while the poultry shows the smallest increase and that by one entry. Canned fruits, jellies, needlework and domestic manufactures and children's special entries all show a table increase.

Beside the regular entries the Rhode Island college, Neighborhood guild and the Dave and Distaff will add to the exhibit by work of their handicraft. Since last year many improvements have been made. An addition of 50 feet has been built to the grandstand, the barres, cattle sheds and outer buildings have been painted. A new fea-ture this year has been the fitting up of offices near the horse barns for Superintendent of Races W. R. Carpenter and Semestary of Races John H.
